Clean Ireland Recycling was named the Overall Winner at the 4th annual Pakman Awards, recognising excellence in waste management and recycling. The awards saw 200 delegates from leading businesses, organisations and community groups come together at a gala dinner at the InterContinental Hotel. Leading the congratulations was Seán Canney TD, Minister of State for Rural Affairs and Natural Resources.

Clean Ireland Recycling is one of the largest waste management service providers in Ireland’s Mid-West, servicing 12,000 customers for over 25 years with a 90% recycling and recovery rate. The company has 100 employees, operating two waste transfer facilities, and four customer service centres. Its service delivery, communications and education programs of customers is of the highest standard. Its innovation in producing compressed natural gas for its truck fleet is at the cutting edge.

The Pakman Awards are open to any organisation, business, community, group or individual in Ireland. The awards are divided into 15 categories, with the winners from each category then nominated for the Overall Pakman Award, one of the highest environmental accolades in Ireland. The panel of judges chose Clean Ireland Recycling as the winner based on an outstanding contribution to the environment in Ireland.

St. Margaret Cashman of St. Francis Hospice in Blanchardstown, the chosen charity recipient of the evening, was presented with a cheque for €4,000 by Repak Chairperson, Tony Keohane.

Clean Ireland Recycling is one of the largest waste management service providers in Ireland’s Mid-West, servicing 12,000 customers for over 25 years with a 90% recycling and recovery rate. The company has 100 employees, operating two waste transfer facilities, and four customer service centres. Its service delivery, communications and education programs of customers is of the highest standard. Its innovation in producing compressed natural gas for its truck fleet is at the cutting edge.

Clean Ireland Recycling was named the Overall Winner at the 4th annual Pakman Awards, recognising excellence in waste management and recycling. The awards saw 200 delegates from leading businesses, organisations and community groups come together at a gala dinner at the InterContinental Hotel. Leading the congratulations was Seán Canney TD, Minister of State for Rural Affairs and Natural Resources.

Clean Ireland Recycling is one of the largest waste management service providers in Ireland’s Mid-West, servicing 12,000 customers for over 25 years with a 90% recycling and recovery rate. The company has 100 employees, operating two waste transfer facilities, and four customer service centres. Its service delivery, communications and education programs of customers is of the highest standard. Its innovation in producing compressed natural gas for its truck fleet is at the cutting edge.

Clean Ireland Recycling was named the Overall Winner at the 4th annual Pakman Awards, recognising excellence in waste management and recycling. The awards saw 200 delegates from leading businesses, organisations and community groups come together at a gala dinner at the InterContinental Hotel. Leading the congratulations was Seán Canney TD, Minister of State for Rural Affairs and Natural Resources.